

"Creating a World of Compassion" UU Service Oct 23

Join the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship as we welcome back Rev. Scott Prinster for his sermon, "Creating a World of Compassion." One of the most prominent goals shared by the world's different religions is to live a more compassionate life. How can we, in times of fear and combativeness, help to tip the world's balance back toward compassion and kindness? Join us as we explore the work of religious scholar Karen Armstrong in living more compassionately.

Scott Prinster is a doctoral student at the University of Wisconsin – Madison in the department of the History of Science, writing his dissertation about the use of science and scientific language by both supporters and critics of the authority of religion to describe the natural world. He also studies the history of religious freedom in Eastern Europe during the Protestant Reformation, and regularly pursues research in Hungary and Romania, where he lived and taught for two years. Before returning to graduate school Scott was an association minister at First Unitarian Society in Madison. In his spare time, he plays old-time fiddle and is also learning how to play his banjo.

The children's 1st through 4th grade religious exploration class is schedule to learn about Frank Lloyd Wright.

The Unitarian Universalist Fellowship is located at 3116 Algoma Street, Stevens Point, WI. Services and religious education for children both start at 10:00 AM. Childcare is available during the service. The UU Fellowship is dedicated to the acceptance and participation of persons in the full range of our Fellowship and society without regard to race, age, sex, disability, sexual identity or orientation, or national origin.
